About Download this section

The JSNA is a developing piece of work that analyses and identifies the current and future health and wellbeing needs of the local population. This will inform commissioning priorities that will help to improve outcomes and reduce health inequalities across the city.

It is the responsibility of the Health and Wellbeing Board in York to undertake this needs assessment. In York this work is a shared responsibility between City of York Council and NHS Vale of York Clinical Commissioning Group. This website provides a range of information about health in York and social care in York.
